

hddlestock

Investment-as-a-Service

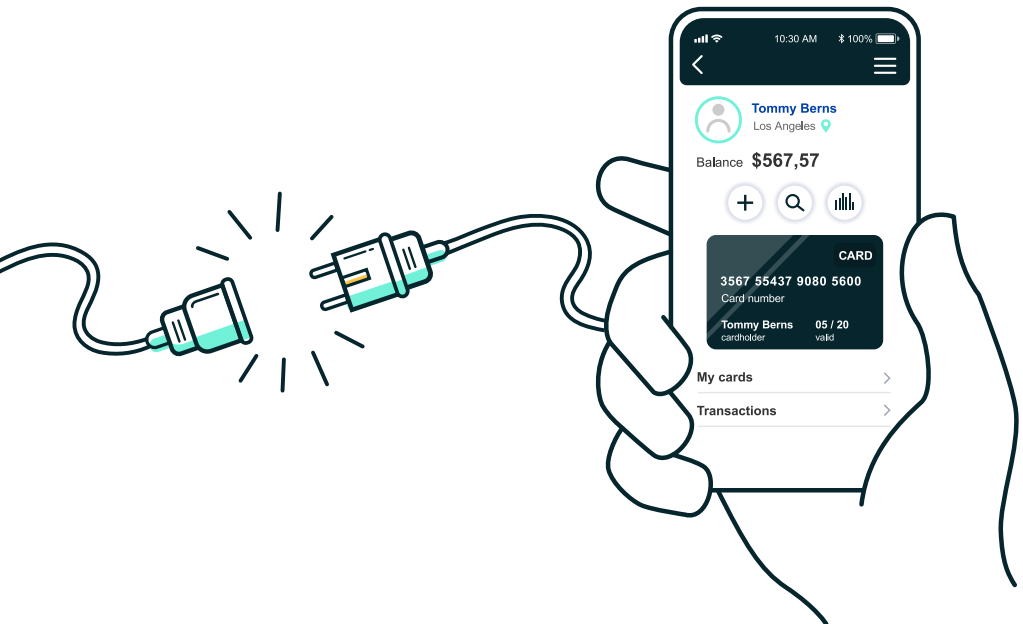

Empowering companies to offer innovative investment experiences

Investment-as-a-Service

Huddlestock's Investment-as-a-Service solution enables firms to meet the increasing demand for modern investment experiences. We provide everything you need to offer scalable trading and investing services across stocks, exchange-traded funds, commodities and more.

Our platform powers the entire investment value chain, from customer interface and onboarding to trade execution, custody and regulatory compliance.

Huddlestock helps you avoid the cost and complexity of building these capabilities yourself. Our modular technology makes it easy to design unique investment experiences for your customers and go to market in weeks.

How our solution stacks up

Your customers

Deliver incredible investment experiences

- Deploy one of our ready-to-use investment apps in your own brand; or
- Develop your own experience and integrate with our platform via API

Digital applications

Automate operations

- Manage your entire operation with our core investment management system; or
- Outsource day-to-day management to our team of experts

Simplify compliance

- Go to market fast with a regulatory umbrella
- Specialist compliance expertise and support

Regulatory licencing

Huddlestock started in Norway, setting out to offer innovative and compliant technology solutions for wealth management.

We made history as Norway's first fintech company to be publicly traded and have gone on to acquire several companies to expand our capabilities.

Today, we power innovative trading and investment services for companies around the world, ranging from startups and fintechs to banks and asset managers.

Visit huddlestock.com  Huddlestock  @Huddlestock

huddlestock